China's High-Speed Rail Experts visit TTCI

Pueblo, Colo. A delegation from the Central South University (CSU) of China, headed by Prof. Hongqi Tian, Vice President of the University, visited Transportation Technology Center, Inc. on January 9, 2012.

CSU is one of the top universities in China and has many research and education programs for rail transportation. The group that visited TTCI has conducted extensive research and testing in aerodynamics for high speed trains, as well as train and vehicle component crashworthiness.

TTCI and CSU officials discussed possibilities of future collaboration and cooperation between the two organizations.

Last November, TTCI experts visited a number of high speed rail test laboratories in the railway campus at CSU.
